Aware Senior Care joins NCServes Central Carolina network supporting veterans and their families

CARY, North Carolina (March 28, 2018) – Aware Senior Care is proud to announce it has joined the NCServes Central Carolina network as a provider with a commitment to improving services for veterans throughout Central Carolina. Aware Senior Care will assist veterans with caring, professional in-home care services, as a NCServes Central Carolina provider. NCServes Central Carolina is a network of public, private and nonprofit organizations serving veterans and their families in Central Carolina, from Raleigh to Fayetteville and through the Triad. The network is coordinated by the USO of North Carolina and includes more than 70 providers, including Aware Senior Care, that can assist with housing and emergency services, recreation and fitness, to financial capabilities and more.

“Our commitment to veterans living in this community is more than just a professional aspiration, it’s a personal priority,” said Tim Murray, Co-Founder and President of Aware Senior Care. “I served in the United States Navy, and our parents were also veterans. Aware Senior Care has had the privilege to serve the Triangle’s veterans since we first opened, and we are so pleased to continue this important work in partnership with NCServes Central Carolina.”

Aware Senior Care’s commitment to providing care and comfort at home for veterans living in the Triangle runs deep. Prior to this exciting new partnership, the company had also been named part of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs’ Veterans Choice Program, allowing Aware Senior Care to provide home health care to veterans throughout the community.

“We are excited to bring Aware Senior Care on board as a NCServes Central Carolina provider,” said Paul Berry, NCServes Central Carolina network director. “NCServes Central Carolina providers are making a difference in the lives of our veterans and military families in our communities each and every day. We can’t wait to see what Aware Senior Care will accomplish working closely within the network.”
